Givry - Grand Vin de Bourgogne

2024, the rough diamond

Ah, vintages

ending in 4,

history almost repeated itself

All the indicators in spring pointed to a poor harvest: incessant rain, rampant disease, battles with weeds, mechanical breakdowns...

At the end of a season that caused suffering to women, men, and machines as rarely seen in the recent history of viticulture, a diamond appeared! What a satisfaction, after so much effort, to deliver “the finest vintage ending in 4” ever produced by Jean Marc.

It is a vintage that gives us goosebumps with its aromatic precision, finesse, and discreet class! One of those vintages that may become rare : balance, freshness, and guaranteed pleasure.

It shines, and we love it already!

White wine

In the glass, the wines shine, colored in a pale yellow with a thousand reflections. On the nose, pear and white flowers are highlighted by a touch of menthol. The palate is both fleshy and lively. It is carried by a chalky texture full of nuances, supported by a dazzling minerality.

Red wines

With a sparkling ruby color, the robe whispers all the nuances of pinot. Juicy cherry, pepper, and undergrowth open the recital of this vintage. The palate expresses itself in perfect balance between savory fruit, fine tannins, and a finish of great purity. Pure and luminous pinots !
